Ecosystems and post harvesting plants

Dedicated to the production and integrated marketing of fine and origin cacao beans. Thinking about its sustainability and greater profitability for the shareholder, the Colombian cocoa company - CCC has defined a long-term strategy based on 3 pillars:

Integrated production: cacao production from own plantations and third-party plantations through the development of ecosystems.

Production of fine cocoa and origin: focusing on the niches of greater growth and greater market value through a differentiation strategy based on cacao quality.

Centralized post-harvest plants: with the objective of standardizing the fermentation process and, therefore, the quality and traceability of the product.
