Tropical Fruit Vinegar

- ▶ In order to keep all beneficial elements as polyphenols, we maintain the pulp inside the vinegar, which allows us to keep the beneficial components still after the fermentation, during the ripening process. Vinegar has to be ripened in order to improve the flavor. As older the vinegar, as better the flavors!
- ▶ Product with double fermentation.

Oils: Sacha Inchi Oil

- ▶ Sacha inchi lowers LDL and raises HDL cholesterol. This is helpful because that marker can reflect dietary problems and genetic dispositions toward some diseases.
- ▶ These seeds contain a good amount of tryptophan, a precursor for serotonin. Serotonin is a feel-good hormone and neurotransmitter that helps us deal with stress and feel calm and happy. The omega 3 also reduces inflammation in the brain, which can cause mood shifts, headaches, and more.
- ▶ Higher serotonin levels, thanks to the tryptophan, also regulate appetite so we don't get cravings, overeat, or snack more than we need to.
- ▶ It contains Omega 3, 6, and 9!
