XIMENA ROZO DESIGN

We combine traditional designs and artisan techniques with the highest quality materials to create beautiful, contemporary interior decor. Our products are manufactured in an efficient and responsible manner by artisan communities in Colombia as a means of fostering their economic and social development. We emphasize color vibrancy and rich tactile qualities realized in unconventional forms. We establish emotional connections and foster permanence over disposability.

At Ximena Rozo Design, we strive to create a positive impact on users and producers by highlighting the artisans craftsmanship passed from generation to generation. Their hand made objects speak of their place of origin and are articles of social, economic, and cultural importance.

Please enjoy LA ISLA HOME Collection designed and handmade from a place of love to enable progress and magnify joy!

These five principles sustain our company:

- . HONOR // A contemporary take on tradition
- . VALUE // Objects that tell stories
- . EMBRACE // A sense of home
- . EMPHASIS // Innovation, beauty, and functionality
- . CELEBRATE // Sustainability for users and producers

LA ISLA HOME

LA ISLA HOME 2020 is a tribute to our roots.
We are earth. We are water. We are mountain.
We are wind.

It is the trace of the river
It is the sand in the shore
It is the foliage in the forest and the rainbow when the sun shines.
LA ISLA HOME. — The trace of the river on its way to the ocean.

SINÚ PILLOWS

The vernacular stripes of the Colombian hammocks and the vibrant colors of the textiles found on the Caribbean coast of Colombia inspire us for the design of our Sinú Pillows. Hand-woven in San Jacinto, Bolivar, by master artisans Ana Maria and Damaris Buevas recognized in 2015 as “Maestra Artesana” by Artesanias de Colombia for her superior knowledge and masterful dedication to her craft. We honor the work of artisan Damaris and her cooperative of 30 female artisans.

SINÚ THROWS

Our unique throw is handwoven on a vertical loom with embroidered patterns from the Sinú culture. "The Pre-Columbian SINÚ civilization emerged in the fertile flood plains of the Caribbean lowlands of present-day northern Colombia."(1) They were very virtuous goldsmiths, weavers, and potters. The zoomorphic iconography found in the Sinú gold work was the source of inspiration for our embroidered throw.

This beautiful centerpiece is complemented by a framed hand weaved macramé tassel that makes this throw not only cozy for a relaxing moment at home but also a statement in your interior environment.

Our Aqua Throw represents Water. "Before the arrival of Spanish explorers, the Sinú civilization developed a highly sophisticated network of drainage and irrigation canals, extending over 500,000 hectares, this was the largest contiguous area of land under cultivation in the ancient Americas". (2) Today the lowland on the Sierra Nevada de Santa Marta is one of my favorite landscapes in Colombia, the region that gave name to La Isla Home Collection.

Our Orange Throw represents Gold. "Gold was associated with the sun and its golden rays and thought to be a source of sacred and celestial power." (3)

SERI RUGS

Our Seri Rugs are woven in Chimichagua, Cesar, in a valley between the Sierra Nevada de Santa Marta and the Serranía del Perijá bordering the Magdalena River in northern Colombia. Approximately one-third of the municipality of Chimichagua is water. Jadis, our master weaver for the Seri Rugs, is originally from this region, and the water inspires some of her creations. Our LA ISLA Seri Rug is a tribute to her work, her creativity, and the work of the artisans she leads. Seri Rug is the perfect runner or area rug to enhance any interior space. It is made from 100% Palma Estera, a natural fiber that grows in the leaves of a common palm from the Caribbean side of Colombia.
