NATURAL EXTRACTS

The benefits of vegetable oil for the skin are considerable and this is why consumers are attracted to products that contain argan, prickly pear, almond and many more. This interest in vegetable oil and its properties for the skin is part of the natural and organic trends that are becoming increasingly popular within the beauty and personal care market. According to a recent survey conducted by GlobalData, products containing easily recognizable food ingredients are considered more trustworthy by consumers worldwide. Beauty and personal care brands need to adapt quickly to these new preferences, which is part of the reason for the recent rise of organic and natural certifications in cosmetics. From fighting hyper seborrhea with natural products to using vegetable oil on the skin, consumers have more positive associations with natural and familiar ingredients in beauty products.

FACE CARE

We all want to get the most out of our facial care routines. That's a given. But to do so, you need to target your individual and specific needs.

Unfortunately, no one product is right for everyone. The good news? There are a number of products that facial aficionados and experts regularly use to plump, retexturize, tone and brighten skin in a targeted way.

The field of facials is so vast that it can sometimes seem impossible to identify which products you should try based on their ingredients. Add to that the change of seasons and whether your skin is dry, combination, acne-prone, aging or somewhere in between, and it can feel like the search for the right product for you is tedious, if not defeated.

Among all the new beauty products and facial care formulas hitting the market, there are some must-have beauty products in every facial care fanatic's medicine cabinet. Whether it's the most potent vitamin C, reliable anti-aging serums, exfoliants or even a moisturizing mask, some ingredients and formulas stand the test of time.

Below, Carmel Cosmetics Labs presents the most effective products our clients can't live without, from the gentlest exfoliator for texture and fine lines to our clients favorite hyaluronic acids. Scroll down to see the best new and classic facial care products you can add to your brand.

BODY CARE

While attention is focused on finding the best face serum to fade hyperpigmentation or a rich, effective moisturizer, body care can be left to its own. But skin care is a whole-body program. That's why Carmel Cosmetics Labs took testing the best body care products very seriously.

Our lab was tasked with testing the latest shower gels, scrubs, shampoos and bath products, which gave us an excuse to improve our regular bathing routine - and to select the best body care products for our customers. Here are the body care products that successfully reset our body care habits.

Vegetable Oils

- Argan oil is a vegetable oil used in cosmetics for its nourishing and antioxidant properties. Argan oil is naturally rich in vitamin E and fatty acids (omega 6 and 9).
- It nourishes and strengthens the skin, and brings shine and suppleness to dry and fragile hair.

- Castor oil contains antioxidants that fight free radicals responsible for accelerating the aging process.
- Castor oil has antibacterial properties. Bacteria on your face can clog pores and lead to acne.
- Castor oil has anti-inflammatory properties, which can help reduce swelling and puffiness.

• Organic Prickly Pear Oil is a yellowish to greenish liquid vegetable oil obtained by cold pressing from the organic seeds of "Opuntia Ficus Indica". The remarkable composition of this product gives it a powerful anti-oxidative activity, a high moisturizing value, and real cell rejuvenating ability.

- It protects and hydrates even the most sensitive skin, and helps repair damaged skin tissues.
- It revitalises and strengthens skin's tonicity and has antioxidant ally to combat aging.

• Jojoba oil is not an oil, but a protective wax. Its chemical structure is different from that of other vegetable oils. It is a polyunsaturated liquid wax that is similar to human sebum, and contains a rich anti-oxidative mix of primary and secondary plant metabolites.

- Nigella oil is known for its "Three A" properties: antibacterial, anti-inflammatory, and anti-aging.
- It's been proven to help reduce skin redness and nourish the skin with vitamins and minerals, particularly aiding the healing process of the skin after a treatment.

• Sweet Almond Seed Oil is a yellow to golden yellow liquid oil obtained by cold pressing process from the organic seeds of "Prunus Amygdalus Dulcis". Since the Antiquity, almond seed oil has been used in cosmetics for its softening and moisturizing properties in case of skin inflammations.

• Macadamia oil nourishes the skin and is great at moisturising. Containing high oleic, linoleic and palmitoleic acid, it's been found beneficial in treating stretch marks, prevent chapping and reduce scars. It has also been known to help smooth and repair dry hair.

Coconut oil is a vegetable oil rich in nutritious lipids, used in cosmetics for its moisturising and nourishing properties.

• Strengthens the skin's natural barrier to help retain moisture.

• Helps protect against skin inflammation caused by ultraviolet

• Rich in vitamin E, an anti-inflammatory nutrient that can

• Coconut oil contains a high concentration of lauric acid (about 50%), a fatty acid with a strong affinity for proteins found in the hair.

Macerates

- Sesame oil contains vitamin E, which can help protect skin cells from the damage caused by environmental factors, such as UV rays, pollution, and toxins.
- Sesame oil also contains several phenolic compounds, which give it its antioxidant and anti-inflammatory properties.

• Chamomile placates redness because of its anti-inflammatory properties. It helps block signals in the body known as prostaglandins, which are responsible for inflammation. This makes chamomile a great ingredient for people who have sensitive skin, as well as inflammatory conditions like rosacea.

- Wheat germ oil is a great source of Vitamin E, which is said to be a powerful antioxidant. It helps fight against free radical damage.
- Wheat germ oil is a natural oil which helps in cleansing the face efficiently. It helps seal moisture back and also gets rid of excess sebum.

- Carrot oil repairs skin damage, tones muscles and tissue, and tightens skin to prevent it from sagging.
- It's known to deeply condition the scalp and hair to repair split ends and contribute soothing relief from dehydration and irritation, such as itchiness caused by harmful bacteria, fungus, and dandruff.

- Shea butter is a vegetable butter rich in fatty acids (between 85 and 90%), such as omega 6 and 9, vitamin E and specific lipids, such as phytosterols.
- It is used to nourish dry and very dry skin and hair.

- Avocado Oil contains a high percentage of vitamin cofactors, including E, C, A, B6, niacin [B3], potassium, and magnesium, which nourish, lubricate, and moisturize
- Used on the scalp helps reduce the appearance of dandruff.
- It also helps to prevent breakage by lubricating the hair strands.

• The high concentration of Omega-3 makes flaxseed extract one of the most potent anti-inflammatory ingredients. This means that it is also very efficient at soothing dry, irritated skin, but that it can also help you get rid of acne, or prevent it.

Essential Oils

- Tea Tree essential oil has a moisturizing effect, which helps to soothe dry skin, as well as reduce itching and irritation.
- The antiseptic properties of Tea Tree oil contribute to its ability to combat oily skin, helping to remove surface oils without over drying or causing irritation.
- It stimulates and increases blood flow near the hair follicles, which promotes healthy hair growth.

- Lemon oil has antimicrobial properties. When diluted and applied to the skin, it has demonstrated both antibacterial and antifungal effects.
- Lemon oil may also help to speed healing.

Ci

Cinnamon

Essential Oil

- It can enhance and speed up the skin healing process, and its antiseptic properties can prevent the development of an infection.
- Plus, eucalyptus oil has soothing and cooling properties that can help calm the inflamed skin and ease the pain.
- Reduces puffiness and redness due to inflammation.
- Has antiseptic effects that help fight bacteria that cause acne and other skin infections.
- Improves skin tone and helps blemishes heal as it increases blood flow.
- Moisturizes dry skin and slows the signs of aging.

- Verbena oil's naturally elevated antioxidant levels make it a fantastic element in muscle-soothing products.
- When used with other carrier oil like coconut oil and jojoba oil, Verbena oil works wonder to your body from skin to hair and your psychological stress

- Peppermint oil has remarkable cellular stimulation properties, it heals, strengthens the epidermis and transforms the skin to help it look younger, healthier and rejuvenated.
- It has also strong antimicrobial properties that act as an effective natural element to combat acne. It provides the epidermis with the optimal environment in which to thrive.

- Rose oil, when used along with another carrier oil, is known to add lustre to hair.
- It also works effectively towards promoting hair growth and makes the scalp healthier with its antifungal properties.

- Rosemary essential oil deeply hydrates skin and can be used instead of moisturiser.
- It also aids in controlling sebum production.
- Its anti-bacterial and anti-inflammatory properties help battle acne.

- Clementine essential oil is rich in Vitamin C which helps collagen production and supports skin's structure.
- It also includes flavonoids, powerful antioxidants that protect against free radical damage and promote skin's healing ability for a reduced appearance of wrinkles and signs of aging.

- When applied on the skin, Neroli Essential Oil intensely moisturises the skin and boosts the epidermis' natural processes.
- It comprises powerful antibacterial properties, which makes it a prime ingredient to target breakouts and balance the production of sebum.

Clays & Exfoliants

• Argania Shell Powder is a natural exfoliant made from argan shells from Morocco. These fine exfoliant particles are ideal for gently exfoliating the skin. It bring a touch of naturalness to your formulas. They exhibit good abrasiveness and good stability.

- Nila brightens the skin and removes unwanted discoloration.
- It exfoliates the skin by removing dead skin cell build up which clogs pores.

• Poppy petals are rich in active ingredients, in particular

• Used as a mask to tighten & brighten skin. It helps to reduce hyperpigmentation and dark spots on the face.

- mucilages and anthocyanins which give it moisturizing, softening and anti-wrinkle properties.It contains flavonoids, which give it antioxidant properties and
- prevent the breakdown of elastin and hyaluronic acid naturally present in the skin.It also contains Alkaloids, especially rhœadine, which has calming and soothing properties.

• Ideal for oily, combination, and acne-prone skin, Green Clay is great for restoring balance to skin. This powerful clay soaks up excess oil that may clog pores and lead to acne and imperfections, and doubles as a powerful, deep cleanser that helps to balance skin pH levels.

• Red clay found anywhere from Georgia to Morrocco is extremely high in iron and effective for a skin detox. Once applied to the skin, red clay binds impurities and dirt into its paste until dried. Its drawing abilities make it a great toner and cleanser for acne-prone, oily, and problem skin.

• White Clay is a great option for almost all skin types as it gently draws dirt and build-up out from beneath the surface of the skin and absorbs excess oil that may clog pores. The best clay mask for mature skin and users with a normal complexion, White Clay also works as a mild exfoliant.
