OUR PROCESS

Production

“El Dragón Farm” has got a bio-input factory, which is essential to maintain soil fertility and develop a healthy crop. This has allowed us to reduce and eliminate the use of synthetic chemical inputs to take advantage of the biological potential of natural resources.

Our processes guarantee the integral control of all production to establish the traceability of each phase of production.

Our Dragon Farm´ system meets Global Galp standards with a team of experts knowledgeable from young plants development process to post harvest care and preservation technique.

Dragon fruit is produced according to a very strict production process, from soil analysis, water tasting to soil improvement and selection of standard plant varieties.

El Dragon Farm applies modern technology to the production and management process to help automate and most accurate production activities along with automatic drip irrigation system to improve productivity with high efficiency.

Consumer health is always our concern with the desire to bring consumers the most quality and safe fruit.

In addition, in the past year, we have produced specific products that other places do not have. With the advantage of the red fruit, the timely harvest, the high nutritional quality that guarantees that there are no post-harvest drug residues, we can conclude that Finca El Dragon is the first Ecuadorian company to produce a fruit in a conscious way and with the highest production and quality standards than any other.

MISSION

Our mission is providing the best product, aiming to satisfy our customer's needs and become the most prestigious and reliable partner of customers.

VISSION

As a pioneer, El Dragon farm has always made great efforts to maintain its leading position in Ecuador in the field of growing pitahaya with a different production system from the others growers in the country.

ABOUT US

EL DRAGON is a family company leading in exporting fresh organic fruits.

El Dragon is owned by its producers since it births. This is our greatest asset!

From orchards to the departure port, we control the whole fruit process.
Today, “El Dragon” represents nearly a potential of 130,000 tons.

We are a committed company to caring for the environment, with sustainable agricultural criteria. All our activities are framed in conserving, protecting and improving natural resources.

We have developed a method to utilize natural microbes to improve plants' nutrient availability. We have our own bio-input factory that allows us to keep the highest standards with a focus on the overall environmental benefits of organic farming. Supporting organic farming also supports and environment that is free of pesticides and chemicals, the cultivation of healthy soil, natural habits and water supplies, and it encourages biodiversity through a reduced carbon footprint.

We are so proud to be an Ecuadorian export company!
