Redefining businesses through technology

Innovation requires fresh ideas – a combination of technological opportunism and precise execution. Our biggest asset as a company is our development process expertise, combined with our understanding of the lean movement. Armed with this, we have successfully turned the software agile process into a predictable process that guarantees results, allows for clear and accurate planning on what usually are uncertain projects, and provides a level of transparency that is usually unseen..

IT Solutions

Empowering manufacturing and supply chain

We combine ideas of lean and agile software development to build bespoke solutions that drive game changing business value.

Why work with us?

Our experience

Manufacturing has unique challenges that require a deep understanding of the physical, procedural and financial mechanics of production.

Methodology

Using agile methods for development is not enough – we do it lean and follow the same logic as you would when developing a lean strategy to manage your own production and supply chain.

Focus on cultivating long term relationships

We are committed with your project's success and its continued evolution over time

Customers

"We consider ourselves extremely lucky to find TDT Consultants. Having run a number of projects from the UK and only giving a limited brief, TDT Consultants managed to interpret our requirements better than we could have ever imagined. On time, in budget and exceeding our expectations every time. Would recommend them to anyone!"
