Immune Shot

Immune Shot is a dietary supplement based on the combination of foods rich in Amazonian bioactives, helping to strengthen your immunity. Vitamin C, Zinc, and Folic Acid, found in camu-camu, ginger, and beetroot, are essential nutrients for boosting immunity. Ginger and turmeric are also powerful anti-inflammatories that can modulate the immune response.

Bioactives: Camu Camu, Turmeric, Ginger, Beetroot, Piperine.

Suggested Use: Add 5 g (1 scoop) to a glass containing 100 ml of water or lemon juice, mix well, and consume all at once. We recommend taking it preferably in the morning, 10 to 15 minutes before your first meal of the day.

Ingredients: Camu Camu powder, beetroot powder, ginger powder, turmeric powder, black pepper oil, ascorbic acid, zinc bisglycinate, selenium bisglycinate, and folic acid.

Açaí Powder

Açaí is considered a superfood with numerous important nutritional properties for a healthy diet, including fiber, healthy carbohydrates, and antioxidants, providing energetic and functional benefits. It is a source of vitamins E, B1, B2, B3, and C, and is rich in fiber, calcium, magnesium, potassium, and fatty acids.

Terramazonia Açai Powder is a concentrate made from selected, dehydrated fruits, preserving the sensory and functional properties of the berry.

Suggested Use: Açai Powder can be incorporated into many recipes. It can be used to prepare the traditional açai bowl with banana and water, as well as in juices, smoothies, yogurts, or mixed with granola.

Due to its powdered form, it can also be used in baking, such as in breads, homemade pasta, and functional cakes (typically combined with other flours), adding flavor and nutritional value to your recipes. In confectionery, açai can be used in cookies, cakes, fillings, or ice creams.

Ingredients: Açai Pulp (Euterpe precatoria), Tapioca Fiber, Citric Acid.

Camu-camu Powder

Camu-camu is a fruit-bearing plant native to the Amazon, difficult to find in other regions of the country. Its fruits are packed with essential nutrients and synthesize more vitamin C than any other natural source in the world, providing powerful benefits for those who consume it.

Camu-camu is extensively researched for its potential beneficial contributions to various bodily functions, particularly in relation to inflammation and disease management.

Suggested Use: It can be used to prepare refreshers, ice creams, jellies, or sweets, and adds flavor and color to various recipes, such as pies and desserts based on other fruits. You can also add it to your favorite juice or beverage.

Ingredients: Camu-Camu Pulp (Myrciaria dubia), Maltodextrin, and Polydextrose.

Guaraná da Amazônia

Guaraná, the most well-known native plant of the Amazon, is a powerful natural energizer. It is rich in xanthine-derived stimulants (such as theophylline, caffeine, and theobromine), flavonoids, phosphorus, iron, magnesium, potassium, calcium, vitamin A, and vitamin B1.

The caffeine content in the seed ranges from 2% to 5% of its dry weight, which is higher than that found in coffee. Caffeine helps increase alertness, improve concentration, and enhance physical performance. It is also rich in catechins, substances that combat free radicals and have antioxidant effects.

Suggested Use: It can be added to teas, juices, yogurts, protein shakes, and smoothies.

Ingredients: Guaraná Seed Powder (Paullinia cupana).
Gluten-free.
