CERTIFICATIONS AND PATENTS

NECTAR MAYA

The Mayas were one of the most advanced cultures of their time in the American Continent.

Our products rescue the knowledge of Health and well-being of its culture. The Brosimum Alicastrum (Tree of Ramón) was one of the main sources of feeding of the Mayas. They knew the high nutritional content and healing properties of it. Walnuts and leaves are more nutritious than maize and other grains and much more productive and resistant to droughts and floods.

The use of food as a staple food is not an important aspect for the development of the Mayan culture.
