URUGUAY

Our winery is geolocated in the same latitude as some of the most recognized wine regions in the world, such as Argentina, Chile, South Africa, Australia, and New Zealand.

Nestled between the vast expanses of Brazil and Argentina, our coasts are framed by the Atlantic Ocean and the Rio de la Plata.

WINE REGIONS

There are several different wine regions in Uruguay: North, North East, Central West, South East and South. 90% of the vineyards are planted in the South because of the maritime influence of the Atlantic Ocean

Located in the department of Canelones, where the country's largest concentration of wineries and vineyards is found, we are just 20 minutes from the center and the seaport of Montevideo.

OUR FAMILY

Antigua Bodega was built in 1928, as a purely family-owned business with 100% Uruguayan capital.

We have a capacity of 2,200,000 liters, with significant underground capacity and various materials for the vinification and conservation of our wines—such as concrete, stainless steel, and barrels of French and American oak. This variety allows us to offer a wide range of styles in the wines that make up our portfolio.

Santos Lugares and the pink granite

Our vineyards are located in the southern part of the country, in Santos Lugares (La Paz, Canelones), and along the banks of the Santa Lucía River (Melilla, Montevideo), covering a total of 30 hectares. In Santos Lugares, we have plantations of Merlot and Sangiovese, while in Melilla, we cultivate white varieties such as Chardonnay, Sauvignon Blanc, Albariño, and red varieties like Cabernet Franc, Cabernet Sauvignon, Marselan, Merlot, Syrah, and Tannat.

Harvest typically begins in late February with the harvesting of white grapes and continues into March with the reds. All our grapes are hand-harvested in 20 kg crates, contributing to the proper treatment of the fruit. We vinify by plot, and aging can range from 6 to 36 months, depending on the desired profile for each label.

Sustainable viticulture program in Uruguay

This program , driven by INAVI, promotes responsible vineyard management, caring for people, the environment, and the product.

It is based on a compendium of good practices related to vineyard management for grape production destined for winemaking, ensuring sustainable and quality production with complete traceability.

A Terroir like no other
This granite is exclusive to this area and has an age between 500 and 600 million years.
