PAKISTANI RICE

Pakistan is one of the world's leading producers and exporters of high-quality rice, known for its rich aroma, exceptional taste, and superior grain quality. Pakistani rice, especially Basmati, is globally renowned for its long, slender grains and unique fragrance, making it a staple in cuisines worldwide.

In addition to basmati varieties, Pakistan also offers an extensive range of non-basmati rice, including IRRI and KS varieties, catering to diverse market demands. The country produces Sella (parboiled) and broken rice, widely used in households, food industries, and specialty dishes.
