

MONICA KREXA

ART

Argentinian by birth and Buzian by choice, aluminum jewelry designer Monica Krexa is a fine artist as well as a lawyer. "I've designed fashion accessories for as long as I can remember", she says. At first she considered her bijou and wire sculptures as simple hobbies, used as she was to handle wire and clippers while attending her classes at the university.

PASSION

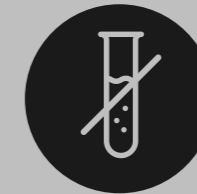

For over twenty years aluminum has been largely appreciated for its aesthetic touch, shine and texture, and also for its light weight, durability and resistance. Monica works aluminum with the same techniques applied to precious metals, thus enhancing its value. "My purpose is to create pieces that might be acquired by people who appreciate artistry, and aluminum makes it possible to produce jewels at reasonable prices".

SUSTAINABILITY

With sustainability as a guiding principle, this distinctive aspect of Monica's brand is embedded in the productive process: environmentally friendly, aluminum can be recycled over and over again. Leftovers are used to manufacture new pieces. Neither garbage nor pollution are produced, since no chemicals enter the process. "Depending on the finishing chosen, each piece can be laminated, melted or hammered, and is entirely handmade: I don't use electric machines. Besides, I have a cistern to collect rain water to work in my atelier and to water my plants", Monica adds.

HANDMADE PIECES
All of our pieces are handmade, one by one, with all the love and care.

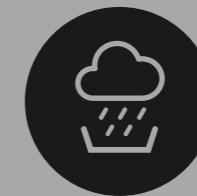

CHEMICAL FREE
No chemicals of any kind are used in the elaboration of our jewelry.

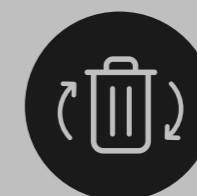

NATURAL LIGHT
On the ceiling of our studio, we install recycled PET bottles that allow natural light to pass through.

MECHANICAL ENERGY
Most of our machines work through mechanical force, relieving the use of electricity.

WATER CAPTURE
The rainwater is captured by a special cistern, and used to wash the materials.

REUSE OF MATERIALS
After a rigorous selection process, the surplus materials are reused.
